

SOCIAL AND OTHER INTERESTS OF WOMEN

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur M. Myers of Tecumseh av., will entertain at a six o'clock dinner Friday evening at a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Chandler, who will leave Dec. 28 for Indianapolis to live. Covers will be placed for 12 at a table appointed in red and white. The centerpiece will be a cluster of Richmond roses, and the Christmas season will be suggested in all the dinner courses. Mrs. Chandler was complimented Thursday afternoon with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Lexington, given by a small bridge club of which she is a member. The centerpiece at the table at which the covers were placed for 12, was a cluster of hollyhocks. Mr. and Mrs. Chandler will close their home, 219 S. Taylor st., next week and spend the remainder of the time before their departure with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Roys, 318 Horatio court.

A "white elephant" party was the unique form which the meeting of the Mothers' club took Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. S. Laperriere, 502 W. Colfax av. in place of Christmas gifts each member brought some knick-knack from the housekeepers' category of things "never used yet never thrown away." The exchange of these "white elephants" occasioned much merriment. The club will hold its next meeting the second Thursday of January at the home of Mrs. Stuart MacKibbin on Portage av.

Talks on phases of life in Alaska and on the National Convention of Charities and Corrections in Seattle, with interesting stereoscopic views, made the monthly meeting of the Philanthropic department of the Progress club Thursday afternoon enjoyable. Miss Louise Studebaker spoke on Alaska and Miss Addie Van den Bosch on the convention. During the business session which followed, Mrs. L. S. Pickenscher led an informal discussion on the matter of Sunday closing of theaters. No formal action in regard to the matter however, was taken. The department will meet again Jan. 15.

The Junior Girls' Bible class enjoyed a Christmas party Thursday evening at the Y. W. C. A. Christmas stories by Miss Margaret Van Fleet and games appropriate to season were features. Dainty refreshments were also served.

The Thursday club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marshall Hughes, 511 E. Monroe st. The papers for the afternoon were "Kris Kringle," by Mrs. Charles Miller, "How Germany Makes Toys For the World," by Mrs. A. A. Dodge, and a general discussion of Christmas festivities by Mrs. J. C. Otis. Mrs. Carl J. Allan pledged the guests with a number of Christmas cards. The club will postpone its next meeting until Jan. 8, on account of New Year's day, when Mrs. Ida North, 115 Notre Dame st., will entertain.

The Remnants Dancing club entertained with its second dancing party Thursday evening in Melville hall. Artie orchestra played the program of dances.

"Buddhism" was the subject for study Thursday afternoon at the meeting of the Impromptu club held at the home of Mrs. Charles Keltner, 725 Leland av. Mrs. J. E. Williams discussed "Leading Doctrines of Buddhism" and Mrs. Fred Gabriel presented the "Relation of Buddhism to Christianity." Informal discussion of the two papers followed their reading. The club will hold another guest party Jan. 8, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Williams, when Dr. C. R. Vickery will speak.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bliss, 311 E. Colfax av., entertained Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock with a birthday dinner complimenting Alexander Lindgren. Covers were laid for 12 after which the evening was spent at progressive pedro.

W. C. T. U. MEETS. The Yawinger W. C. T. U. held a very pleasant meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bessie Peach, 731 N. Notre Dame. New work was planned. Mrs. Alice Moffitt was chosen as superintendent of the scientific temperance branch. Mrs. Rallsback the county president, was present. The union will meet in January with Mrs. W. U. Jeffers, 815 Corby st.

Afternoon dress in Vanilla charmeuse. The blousing kimono bodice is wide open in a "V". At the front, one side crossing over the other, to show a white net chemisette trimmed round the neck by a white lace maine and net frill. The three-quarter sleeves is finished by a wide crossed band turned up at the bottom as a little cuff. A lace maine frill comes from inside. The bodice has a basque gathered at the waist, rather long at the back it is cut on cross to the front and finished under a bunch of purple roses at the front waist. All the fullness of the skirt is draped up to the front waist to make at side and back a sort of pannier effect. The skirt is seamed in the front after a wide fold, the bottom is round to the ground.

SOCIAL CLUBS

Mrs. Grville Orcutt of E. Indiana av., was hostess to the members of the Good Old Times club Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was spent with Isany work and the hostess served delicious refreshments. The club will meet Jan. 8, with Mrs. Emmet Baxter, Marietta st.

Members of the Eureka club were guests Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Hinkle, 321 Kuntzman court. A birthday shower for Mrs. George Secor, Mrs. William Riddle and Mrs. Ed Strickler was a delightful feature of the occasion. Another was the presence of Mrs. Metzger of Cincinnati, O., a former member of the club, who is visiting her son, George Metzger of Birdsell st. The hostess served a dainty two course luncheon. The club will meet in four weeks with Mrs. Benjamin Darr, 917 Leland av.

The Birthday club made up three tables at cards Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Schubert, 302 S. Scott st. The favors went to Mrs. Charles Lamirand, Mrs. John Howard and Mrs. William Lamirand. The hostess served dainty refreshments in two courses. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Joseph Black, 709 N. Hill st.

The D. I. club was entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Kagle, 506 Cushing st. The afternoon was spent at pedro and favors were awarded Mrs. P. Phelka and Mrs. W. Kagle. The hostess served a dainty luncheon. The next meeting of the club will be Jan. 15 at the home of Mrs. Warren Farrell, 119 N. Taylor st.

Miss Josephine McKee, 105 Woodward av., pleasantly entertained the members of the Riverside club Thursday evening. The time was spent with needlework and dainty refreshments were served. The club will meet Jan. 7 with Miss Inez Roswell, 1955 Riverside drive.

NUMEROUS ARE THE FADS OF THE SEASON

Whims of Paul Poiret Are Seen in Many Queer Little Touches Which Madame Gives to Her Costume This Winter.

As she threw back the coat of her green duvetyne suit you saw that the woman pouring tea at the table in front of you wore around her neck a green cord from which was suspended one lozenge-shaped topaz. What a green cord? Truly nothing else, and in amazement you gasped at the flights of the new mode.

This fashion has come direct from the costumes in which M. Poiret chooses to put his beautiful Normandy wife. Mme. Poiret wears no jewelry save one pendant pearl hung from a cord, which is always the color of her costume. And now Mme. American is taking to herself the same whim.

As a result you see in the windows of the Fifth av. shops frequent hints of this new caprice. The single stone which punctuates the cord may be of any kind, but it is generally rather large and often lozenge-shaped. Strange to say, too, it supplies rather an effective and dainty touch to the color scheme of the gown, and as a relief from the bulky bear necklace, is surely to be welcomed.

Surely the trail of M. Poiret is over it all in these days. Not content with sweeping his brush of Oriental color over all the daytime costumes of the hour, he now insists upon tinting even our dreams.

Consequently we find in several shops "Poiret nightgowns," said to be made under the direct supervision of one of the great creator's assistants. These nightgowns are of various crapes and silks, notably crepe de chine, and occur in such cuckoo tints as Chinese yellow, empire green and vermillion. So really the only thing left for us is to sleep in a Bagdad room.

The prices of the gowns are $20 in handkerchief linen and $30 in crepe de chine. Face veils are much in demand this season. What quantities of veils are generally approved, there are all sorts of novelties—such as the sombre chiffon veils and French lace veils in such queer color effects as "maggie," the latter being shown, too, in toupes and champagne. They run from $1.95 to $2.25.

YOU CAN MAKE FENDER FOR GREASE BEHIND GAS STOVE

Your kitchen wall—the part of it behind the gas stove gets very dirty and no amount of cleaning will entirely eliminate the stain. Grease that spatters from the stove discolors any kind of paint and makes an ugly mark. You can eliminate this, if you will get an old picture frame—one with a glass in it—that is just the width of your stove—or rather the width of the stove that will spatter grease. Paint the frame white and put a nice, clean piece of white paper behind the glass. The grease will spatter on the glass where it is easily washed off. The white paper may turn yellow in time. In which case you can put in a clean piece.

GRADE STUDENTS PRESENT MUSICAL

Work of Grammar Pupils Pleases Large Audience at the High School Auditorium.

Under the direction of Misses Heath and Parker, nearly 400 of the pupils of the grammar school gave a musical program and concert at the high school auditorium Thursday night. The pupils had been well trained and their voices were strong and musical. The work of the eight piece orchestra which was composed of pupils of the common grades was especially good.

The exercises opened with a selection by the orchestra, "Life Is a Dream," waltzes, Maresch, and was followed by a cantata, "Summer," by Franz Abt.

The soloists were, Miss Ellen Garlock, assistant supervisor of music; Mabel Stauffer, high school student; Jennie Larsen and Genevieve Fowler, eighth grade students.

The program follows: Introduction and chorus, "The Morning Sun," recitative, mezzo-soprano, "Hark! Hark! I Hear" shepherd's song, soprano, "My Shepherd's Life," recitative, mezzo-soprano, "With Happy Hearts," chorus, waltz, "Where the King Cups," recitative, mezzo-soprano, "The Golden Orb," chorus and duet, "It Is Sweet," recitative, contralto, "Hush! Hush!" solo, contralto, "The Wind Is Shrieking," chorus, "All Is Calm," recitative, mezzo-soprano, "The Day Is Fading," chorus, "The Glories of Day."

Part II. Orchestra, "Traumerie," Schumann; chorus, Seven B.—(a) "Waken, Lords and Ladies Gay," (b) "Santa Lucia," (c) "Holy Night" (sung in German); chorus, "Revel of the Leaves," Veazie; boys' chorus—(a) "The Blacksmith," (b) "The Heart Bowed Down," Balfe, (c) "The Warrior Bold," Adams; chorus, "Praise Ye the Father," Gounod.
